SARTORIUS

Capital Markets Day

Information on Data Protection for Event Participants of the Capital Markets Day of Sartorius Aktiengesellschaft

Data protection is a top priority at Sartorius (hereinafter "we"), and this includes a high degree of transparency. Therefore, we would like to provide you with an overview of how your personal data is processed by Sartorius, and your rights under data protection law. It goes without saying that we only process personal data in accordance with the applicable legal provisions on the protection of personal data and data security.

Who is responsible for data processing and who is the data protection officer?

The responsible body for data processing is:
Sartorius AG
Otto-Brenner-Strasse 20
37079 Goettingen
Germany
Phone: +49 (0)551 308-0
E-mail: info@sartorius.com

You can reach our data protection officer at:

Which categories of personal data do we use and where they arise?

We collect personal data directly from event participants as part of the online registration process via the event website.

The categories of personal data processed from event participants include:
- Contact information (first and last name, address, telephone number, mobile phone number, fax number, and e-mail address);
- Professional data (position/role);
- Interests;
- Video recording;
- Contributions to the floor during the event. The contributions to the floor can also be made anonymously.

The provision of certain data is necessary within the framework of the event in order to be able to properly prepare, conduct, and follow up on the event. Without the provision of certain data, participation in the event is not possible or could be impaired if the processing of certain data is not consented to or data is not given. This expressly does not apply to the processing of video recordings and spoken contributions.

For what purposes and on what legal basis is the data processed?

We process your personal data in compliance with the provisions of the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), the German Federal Data Protection Act (BDSG), and all other applicable laws.

The data processing serves the following purposes:
- Communication with event participants regarding participation;
- Responding to inquiries regarding the event such as venue and times;
- Preparation, implementation, and follow-up of the event;
- Safeguarding our legitimate interests, namely reporting and providing information about Sartorius events, company-related events, and for contemporary historical documentation;
- Public relations.

The processing of the personal-data categories above is necessary to achieve the following purposes.

The legal basis for data processing is—unless expressly stated otherwise—Article 6(1)(f) of the GDPR (based on overriding legitimate interests). The legitimate interest is to ensure the smooth running of the event.

In individual cases, we obtain explicit consent pursuant to Article 6(1)(a) of the GDPR (e.g. in the case of video and image recordings and verbal contributions).

If we wish to process the personal data of event participants for a purpose not mentioned above, they will be informed in advance.

To whom is the personal data disclosed?

Only those persons and offices within our company who require access to fulfill the above-mentioned purposes will have access to personal data pertaining to event participants.

We also work with service providers to carry out the aforementioned data processing. These service providers only receive personal data from Sartorius that is required to carry out the respective order, only act on our instructions, and are contractually obligated to comply with the applicable data protection requirements.

Some recipients of event attendees' personal data may be located in countries outside the European Economic Area ("third countries") where the applicable law does not ensure the same level of data protection as within the European Union. In this case, we take appropriate measures to ensure adequate safeguards to protect the personal data of event participants.

We therefore only transfer personal data of event participants to external recipients in third countries if they have entered into EU standard contractual clauses with us or have introduced Binding Corporate Rules.

How long will the personal data be stored?

If no explicit storage period is specified at the time of collection (e.g. as part of a declaration of consent), the personal data of event participants will be deleted insofar as it is no longer required to fulfill the purpose for which it was stored, unless legal retention obligations (e.g. retention obligations under commercial and tax law) prevent deletion. In this case, the data will only be processed to a limited extent. In the context of the publication of the event, non-anonymized questions and spoken contributions will be edited out.

What data protection rights can I assert?

Event participants can request information about the data stored about them at the address above (Art. 15 GDPR).
In addition, you may, under certain conditions, request the correction or deletion of your data (Art. 16 and 17 GDPR).
You may also have the right to restrict the processing of your data (Art. 18 GDPR) and the right to receive the data you have provided in a structured, common, and machine-readable format (Art. 20 GDPR). Restrictions apply to the right to information and the right to deletion in accordance with §§ 34 and 35 BDSG.

In the event that personal data is processed on the basis of consent, event participants have the right to object to the processing of their personal data at any time without giving reasons.

If we process the data of event participants to protect legitimate interests, event participants may object to this processing at any time for reasons arising from their particular situation (Art. 21 GDPR).

In the event of an objection, we will no longer process their personal data unless we can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override the interests, rights, and freedoms of the event participants, or the processing serves to assert, exercise, or defend legal claims.

Event participants may object to the processing of video recordings and recorded spoken contributions at any time without stating a reason. To do so, please contact the organizer or the data protection officer mentioned at the beginning of this document.

Where can you complain?

Event participants have the option of submitting a complaint to the above-mentioned data protection officer or to a data protection supervisory authority of their choice (Art. 77 GDPR in conjunction with Section 19 BDSG). Without prejudice to any other administrative or judicial remedy, event participants have the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority, in particular in the member state of their residence or the place of an alleged infringement, if event participants are of the opinion that the processing of personal data relating to them violates the GDPR.

The supervisory authority to which the complaint has been lodged shall inform the complainant of the status and outcome of the complaint, including the possibility of a judicial remedy under Article 78 of the GDPR.

In addition, event participants can complain to the lead supervisory authority responsible for us:
The State Commissioner for Data Protection of Lower Saxony
Prinzenstrasse 5
